Panorama Antennas announces a new range of WiMAX antennas for the growing machine to machine market.

LONDON – UK – 9 April 2009 – Panorama Antennas, antenna and RF company announced the availability of its new high performing WiMAX antennas for machine to machine communications. The new range of antennas will be show cased at the Hannover Fair on 20th April 2009.

Panorama Antenna's range of WiMAX antennas are designed to provide efficient infill and improved terminal coverage for real world applications such as wireless internet access, machine to machine data transfer and smart metering. Panorama also offers a range of multiple antenna systems which can radically improve the performance of WiMAX networks operating MIMO technology.

"Panorama Antennas is a leader in providing high performance antennas for the global wireless communications market," stated Christopher Jesman, Managing Director. "The new WiMAX antenna range fits into our portfolio perfectly. With a variety of directional, omni-directional and MiMo antennas, Panorama is ideally positioned for the increased usage of these 4G technologies."
